DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zerillo (US Patent 6,688,227) in view of Kerr (US Patent 6,729,235).

Regarding claims 1 and 6, Zerillo teaches a retention device (50) for securing a recording medium (55) to a rotatable, magnetically susceptible cylinder (60), the retention device being configured for releasable attachment to the cylinder (Column 4, Lines 31-35) over the recording medium and at least one magnetic element (90). However, he does not explicitly disclose a retention device with a curved surface complimentary to the curvature of the cylinder. Kerr teaches a curved retainer device (55,57) that holds a sheet material. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the invention as taught by Zerillo to replace the flat retention device thereof with a curved retainer as taught by Kerr, since Kerr teaches that it is advantageous to properly secure sheets of material.

Regarding claims 2 and 7, Zerillo teaches a retention device comprising a plurality of magnetic elements (90) distributed over the surface.

Regarding claims 3 and 8, Zerillo teaches magnetic elements that are recessed within the device so as not to protrude beyond the surface (Figure 5).

Regarding claims 4 and 9, Zerillo teaches an entire magnetic surface (Figures 1, 5 and 8).

Regarding claims 5 and 10, Zerillo teaches a removable handle (75) to facilitate application and removal of the retention device.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 8/9/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Regarding applicant's remarks with respect to Kerr on page 4, the examiner agrees that elements 56 and 57 appear to be flat. However, retainer device 50 as a whole shows a curvature. One of ordinary skill in the art would recognize that the curved shape of the retainer of Kerr is beneficial for assuring that the ends of the device are in close proximity to the surface upon which the device 50 is secured. Therefore, one having ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to modify Zerillo as proposed above, to improve the retainer of Zerillo by assuring its ends are sufficiently close to the surface upon which the retainer is secured.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
